On May 3, 2017, Intel Corporation ("Intel") reported that Diane Bryant would cease to serve as head of Intel's Data Center Group and would take a personal leave of absence, which was expected to last approximately six to eight months. On November 29, 2017, Ms. Bryant notified Intel that she will not be returning to Intel and plans to retire from the company effective as of December 1, 2017.

In connection with her departure, Intel expects to enter into an agreement with Ms. Bryant pursuant to which Ms. Bryant will agree to certain restrictions on the use of confidential information and on solicitation of Intel employees, and will grant a customary release, and Intel will make a separation payment of $4.5 million to Ms. Bryant. In addition, Ms. Bryant is retirement-eligible under Intel's benefit plans and will receive the retirement benefits described in Intel's proxy statement for the 2017 Annual Stockholders' Meeting, filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission on April 6, 2017.
